

Yes, Virginia wants wind power!

Thomas Farrell, President & CEO, Dominion

Dear Mr. Farrell,

As you consider how to meet Virginia's expected energy demand over the next five years and beyond, I think it is important that our energy comes from clean, renewable sources like offshore wind.

No other state has more opportunity for economic gain and to be a leader in the offshore wind industry than Virginia. Boosting our economy, transforming Virginia's energy future, and slowing and ultimately reversing climate change and its consequences will require a clear commitment and aggressive timetable to repower and rebuild Virginia. We believe that Dominion, Virginia's largest power company, can do this in a way that benefits Virginians and your shareholders.

Let's get this thing blowing!
